

Jonas Kulikauskas

A son of Lithuanian refugees, Jonas Kulikauskas is a Los Angeles based interdisciplinary artist inspired by his heritage, fatherhood, and faith. His works have been exhibited by the M.K. Čiurlionis National Museum of Art, Lithuania and the California Museum. His project, Yosemite People, culminated in an award-winning book, a national tour, and has been entered into the permanent collection of the National Museum of American History, Smithsonian. Kulikauskas is a Fulbright award recipient and has lectured at Otis Art Institute, Los Angeles County Museum of Art, and ArtCenter College of Design where he has been a part-time faculty member since 2002.